

AND SO IT BEGINS

Take care when entering the river. There's a lot of traffic and not a lot of current. Try and stay close to the shore. This'll not only save you a lot of sweat but also keep you a bit safer. There are no Wiffen and seldom a course ship close to shore. You've got time. It'll take you about 7h to get to Schaffhausen.

When you see the power lines, aim for the mast on your left. This'll be the last crossing for a while.

HEMISHOFEN BRIDGE

Simple: Stay on the side you're on. Get close to the shore and you'll be fine.

BADI HEMISHOFEN

Get to the right side after the bridges. The current becomes quite a bit stronger.

SCHUPFEN

Stay on the left bank. Aim towards the shed (called Schupfen). The waves can get tricky in this part of the river. Stay close to the shore.

STAY ON THE RIGHT

In Diessenhofen the courseship uses the whole river to dock. Stay all the way on the right to pass under the idyllic wooden bridge.

Below the port, you can get into the water. Be careful with traffic and stay close to the shore.

BÜSINGEN

Shortly after Büsingen, cross over to the right hand side. It'll take you about an hour from here to Schaffhausen.

Why is the last exit before the railroad bridge?

LAST CHANCE

You need to get out of the water before the bridge. Do it on the right side and you'll be fine.

The course boats need a lot of space to turn around. Here is a ban on bathers, rubber boats and SUPs.
